ASMSU Primary Election Of CB Officers Is April 19

Central Board primary elections are April 19.

President, vice-president, and business manager positions will be vacated by Paul Ulrich, John Datsopoulos, and John Ulvila. The qualifications for these offices are: a minimum of a 2.5 grade average, seven quarters of college (five at MSU), and at least 105 credits. Secretary Diane Mossey will also vacate her position and the qualifications for this office are five quarters of school with a minimum 2.5 grade average.

Two representatives from the freshman, sophomore, and junior classes will be elected. The members in the freshman and sophomore classes with the most votes will be elected for two-year terms. Representatives are required to have a minimum 2.0 average.

The Intramural Table Tennis Tournament will be held Saturday at 9 a.m. in the Men's Gym, according to Ed Chinske, men's intramural director.

Both the singles and doubles events will be played Saturday.

A roster is posted in the Men's Gym, and Chinske said that interested students should sign up for the tournament before Saturday morning.

Quartet Contest Applications Due

Applications are due at the Lodge Desk Friday, April 17, for the All-Campus Quartet Contest to be held April 28. The contest is sponsored by Student Union committee and is open to vocal quartets from all University living groups.

Trophies will be awarded to the first and second place winners in both men's and women's division. A plaque will remain in the Student Union engraved with the names of the winners.

The contest will be held in the University Theater. There will be a dance at the Lodge following the contest.

Student Union plans to make the contest an annual event if it is successful this year, Dave Rianda, director of Student Union activities, said yesterday.

Africans Run Wild Over UN Troops

ELISABETHVILLE, the Congo (AP) — Thousands of knife-wielding, stone-throwing Africans ran wild in Elisabethville and its suburbs yesterday in a rampage against United Nations soldiers. By nightfall, much of Elisabethville and its environs looked like a city at war.

The Africans were whipped to frenzy when President Moise Tshombe, the strong man leader, delivered an ultimatum to Swedish U.N. soldiers to surrender Elisabethville's airport or face attack by his mobilized people.

Tshombe tried to call off the ultimatum two hours later, but that was too late to avert violence. Thousands of Africans swarmed over the roads leading to the airport.

Soon a screaming crowd of 4,000 was laying siege to the airport, occupied by the Swedish U.N. force.

Tshombe's men, members of the best-disciplined army in the divided, strife-torn Congo, kept the Africans from storming into the building.

Basketball Scandals Lead To Arrest of Two Men

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York County grand jury began an investigation yesterday of the latest college basketball scandals that already have led to the arrest of two men.

The pair, Aaron Wagman, 28, and Joseph Hacken, 41, New York, have been charged with bribing two Seton Hall players and one from the University of Connecticut to shave points on games in which their teams were involved.

One New York police source said the scandal could involve from 15 to 25 colleges.

Fiedler Appointed Fellow In Arts, Letters Institute

Leslie A. Fiedler, professor of English, has been asked to become a life fellow of the International Institute of Arts and Letters, Vedder M. Gilbert, chairman of the English department, announced.

Fellows and members are selected "from those qualified by notable achievements in the arts and letters or in sciences and other fields of culture." The institute was incorporated in Switzerland in 1907 for the purpose of worldwide cooperation in the cultivation and promotion of these fields.

Mr. Fiedler will be on leave for the 1961-62 academic year as a Fulbright lecturer at the University of Athens, Greece. His books include, "No! in Thunder," recently published, "Love and Death in the American Novel," and "An End to Innocence." He has written stories, poetry and criticism for the Yale Review, Partisan Review, Esquire and other periodicals.

Other new fellows elected this year from 30 countries include Aldous Huxley, Eero Saarinen, William Sorayan, Thornton Wilder and William Wyler from the United States; Marc Chagall, Rene Claire, Jean Cocteau and Andre Maurois from France; and Alan S. Paton from the Union of South Africa.

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Corporal J. P., a 70-1 shot, and Greco Pacific, assessed at 30-1, combined Monday for the richest daily double in Gulfstream Park's history—$4,580.70 for $2.

The track said 20 winning $2 tickets were held by lucky daily double bettors.

Soviets Say Cease-Fire Needed for Laos Peace

WASHINGTON (AP) — Diplomatic informants said yesterday the Soviets have agreed informally that an effective cease-fire must be verified in Laos before a 14-nation international conference can meet to seek a settlement in the war-torn nation.

That optimistic word came as high-level American and British officials worked on the preliminaries for conferences—centering on Laos—between British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan and President Kennedy.

Montana High School Students To Participate in Science Fair

Students representing about 70 schools throughout the state will converge on the MSU campus April 7 and 8 for the sixth annual Montana Science Fair.

About 300 seventh and eighth grade and high school students will place their exhibits on display in the field house.

Awards will be given in each of the 14 divisions for the best five exhibits. These include astronomy and light, atomic energy, medicine and physiology, and mechanics. The boy and girl with the best exhibits will win an all-expense-paid trip to the National Science Fair in Kansas City, Mo.

The fair, sponsored by MSU, will conclude with a luncheon Saturday in the lodge following a talk by Frank Abbott, academic vice-president of MSU. Paul Ulrich will be master of ceremonies.

The purpose of the science fair is to stimulate student interest and stress understanding of science,

Committee Has Seven Talks For Quarter

The Public Exercises and Visiting Lecturers Committee has scheduled seven more programs for this quarter, according to Ralph McGinnis, committee chairman.

The seven lecturers and their topics are: William Sullivan, special agent for the United States FBI—"Threats to the Security of the U.S.," tentatively in April; Rene Taylor, author, "Life and Works of Goya," April 11; H. G. Barnett, lecturer for the American Anthropological Association and National Science Foundation—"Contemporary Oceania," April 26; T. V. Cutts, Australian Consul-General in San Francisco—"Australia's Role in the Free World," April 27.

Tentatively scheduled in May is James Raymond Murphy, vice-chairman of the U.S. Commission for UNESCO—"UNESCO in World Affairs Today." Allan Watts, author, will lecture on "Zen Buddhism and the Beats" on May 5. The final program on May 9 will feature Anthony Meneses, Indian Position in World Affairs."

allow students and teachers an opportunity to see what is being done in science, provide a means of recognizing young scientists, encourage educators in their guidance of science students and arouse public interest in the scientific ability of young people.

The criteria for judging the exhibits includes creative ability, scientific thought, thoroughness, skill, clarity, and dramatic value. Last year, exhibits included displays ranging from the science of music to Euglena and photosynthesis.

Members of Spur and Bear Paw will guide the young scientists around the campus from 3:30 to 4:30 p.m. Friday.

Montana is divided into 14 regions that choose finalists to enter the State Fair in Missoula through a district fair prior to the State Fair.

Kaimin, at Your Pleasure-2

Equally as important as the Kaimin's presentation of news, is the Kaimin's comment on the news. This news comment is what qualifies a newspaper as a leader rather than a bulletin.

This comment will be on the editorial page and unlike the rest of the paper, it will contain opinion.

The Kaimin editorial column will express the beliefs and opinions of the Kaimin staff. It will not, at times, represent the views of the whole student body or any other group. The opinions expressed will be independent and made in the best interest of the students.

The purpose of the editorial column is to interpret news, stimulate thought, and act as a leader.

Rights and Responsibility

Few will deny or question the Kaimin's right and responsibility to stimulate thought or interpret news. However, many people do not believe the Kaimin has the right or the responsibility to act as a leader.

What does the Kaimin have to gain if the candidate they endorse is elected, or if some criticism leads to an improvement at MSU?

The staff will not be any richer, nor will the staff's grades improve because of the time it has taken to gather the information to make the decision.

The editorials as stated before will represent the Kaimin staff and therefore will not be signed or initialed as they have been in times past. The exceptions to this will be guest editorials.

Since the editorial column cannot represent all of the students, persons interested in writing for the Kaimin will have the privilege to do so. Columns of opinion may be written on any subject that is of interest to the students. These opinion columns may be contrary to Kaimin policy.

Students May Write

It is hoped that this invitation for students to write for the Kaimin will satisfy the often heard complaint that the better writers on campus are not given an opportunity to write for the Kaimin and that often worthy student opinion cannot be expressed except by letters to the editor.

It is also hoped that the students will accept this invitation and write for the Kaimin.

Letters to the Editor on any subject of interest to the students are solicited.

Letters must be signed or they will not appear. Letters of less than 200 words will appear as written, corrected only for grammar. Letters of more than 200 words will be edited at the discretion of the Kaimin Staff. The Kaimin reserves final judgment on timeliness and content of letters as well as space limitations to determine what day a letter will appear.

Democrat Controls State

Gov. Donald G. Nutter and Lt. Gov. Tim M. Babcock are both out of the state for the rest of the week.

Gov. and Mrs. Nutter, who are out of the state on "personal business" and Lt. Gov. and Mrs. Babcock will meet in Las Vegas before returning to Montana.

With the governor and lieutenant governor out of the state, Paul R. Rice, Teton County Democrat, will become acting governor of Montana. Mr. Rice was a member of the Democratic controlled senate that the governor and lieutenant governor showed such displeasure with.

It is satisfying to know that our elected governor and lieutenant governor have enough faith in Montana's other elected officials to leave the state in their hands.

Peace Corps: An Idealism

Idealistic youths are beginning to divert their energy from crowding into telephone booths, marching against the HUAC and "sitting-in" at lunch counters to support a more patriotic deed—voluntarily serving their country.

But support for President John F. Kennedy's Peace Corps seems to be wrought from very little more reflection than that given to filling telephone booths.

President Kennedy stated that Americans must be willing to sacrifice for their country. The Peace Corps offers no salary, gives no "American standard" living conditions, deprives the members of the three years immediately following college of furthering their education and deprives them of possible marriage in the "marrying years."

The members of the Peace Corps must be "specialists" in some field which will enable them to help the natives of their host country help themselves.

The problem is not whether our Peace Corps will "understand" the natives or the natives "understand" the Americans. The natives must first "understand" themselves and this is something the Peace Corps can help them accomplish. If these American youths think they have all the answers to the natives' problems, they will merely add another chapter to the "Ugly American." And it will be worse if these corpsmen are capable only of speaking the native language but have no profound knowledge of the customs, history and culture of the host country.

And, of course, how many countries will receive members of our Peace Corps? We must not look upon the Peace Corps only from the American side.

Fortunately, these sacrificial aspects will probably segregate the men from the boys.

But aside from these factors, we must realize that if we send only our college-educated abroad perhaps we will be committing another error. Many of our college-graduates will not yet be "dry behind the ears" and ready to undertake so important a task.

The cost of the Peace Corps will be trivial compared to our annual foreign aid budget. What have we to lose by this experiment?—other than a few corpsman at the hands of some chauvinistic Congolese.

Law Building Dedication Set September 6

The new law building will be ready for occupancy June 1, according to Dean Robert Sullivan. He said they will move in as soon as semester exams are finished.

An associate justice of the U.S. Supreme Court and the president of the American Bar Association will be present at dedication ceremonies September 6.

Associate Justice William Douglas will speak at afternoon dedication exercises and John Satterfield, incoming president of the ABA, will speak at the evening banquet.

Dean Sullivan said dedication events will probably last two or three days.

"The dedication of the new building will not only launch the observation of the 50th anniversary of the MSU Law School but will also be an occasion to pay tribute to the accomplishments and the tradition of the legal profession in Montana," the dean said.

He said the old law building will be converted for use by the psychology department. William Griffiths, chairman of that department, said modification plans have been drawn up for the needed human research laboratories. The plans are now being considered by Frederick Krieger, superintendent of buildings and grounds, Mr. Griffiths said.

He said the psychology department will move in as soon as the building is vacated.

Chicago Cubs to Use IBM As Manager Replacement

CHICAGO (AP) — Sometime next August the Chicago Cubs will be playing the Milwaukee Braves and a member of the Cub college of coaches will have the task of making out a batting order to face the great Warren Spahn.

"Who will it be in left field," wonders the Cub coach, "Richie Ashburn or Billy Williams?"

He presses a button and presto, out pops a card stating, "You'd better use this guy instead of so-and-so."

The Cubs, as everybody in the sports world should know by now, do not have a manager. They have nine coaches and an IBM machine. There have been jokes about rotating the coaches with most of them getting a crack at running the team.

But there's nothing funny about the use of the IBM machine which should result into one of the deepest penetrations into the vast valley of baseball statistics.

Every time a Cub batter hits the ball, the result will be logged. For example, say the Cubs are playing the Braves, Spahn is pitching and Ashburn is the batter.

The master sheet is made out with the data, where the game is played, whether it is at night or day and so on.

On a three-and-two count, Ashburn walks his first time at bat. The walk is recorded in one column and another column shows he has reached base. The next time up, Ashburn hits the first pitch for a double, sending home a runner from second base.

In the various columns, Ashburn is credited with a hit, a two-base hit, two total bases, having reached base, an opportunity to drive in a run, a run-batted-in and a line drive.

Line drives, pop flies and ground balls all have their respective columns. The third time Ashburn grounds out and the fourth time up he grounds into a double play.

All this not only gives a coach a complete line on what Ashburn does against Spahn, but it also compiles what Ashburn does against left-handers in games at home and in games played during the day.

It's a monumental task since tabs are kept on every Cub who bats in a game and against the various pitchers used.

But under this system, there should no longer be guesswork involved, especially in sending in a pinch hitter.

Golf Team Initiates Season

Montana's golf team swings into action this afternoon in a practice match against a pick-up team from the Missoula Country Club.

The two teams will meet at 3 p.m. on the Country Club course.

This is the first match of the season for Montana, and Coach Ed Chinske is hopeful that he can get his team into shape before the Grizzlies open Skyline play April 19 against the University of Utah in Salt Lake City.

MSU enters the 1961 season minus three veterans, but the Grizzly coach thinks that his team may be good as it was in 1960.

The Grizzlies failed to win in the Western Division last year, but they finished fourth in the Skyline Championships held in Missoula. That was Montana's best finish in five years.

Three veterans are back from last year. They are Fred Jewell, Ray Maidment and Jim Bryngelson. Chinske also has four newcomers working out with the varsity.

Senior Lettermen Will Coach 1961 University Tennis Team

The Montana tennis team has a new coach for the 1961 season.

Don Hubbard, a senior letterman, will coach the Grizzlies along with adding a racket to the Montana cause.

Hubbard replaces John Love, a graduate student and ex-Grizzly tennis player.

Commenting on the 1961 season Hubbard said, "We are getting in shape now and the team has been hard at work for the past two weeks, but it's too early to make any predictions."

Including Hubbard, five lettermen return to the team this year. They are Mike Hogarty, Bill Corrette, Carl Lehrkind and Steve Kirk. Hubbard said also that four new men have turned out for practice sessions.

WIN THE FROODMOBILE

"It runs!"

Dr. Frood presented the automobile industry with this magnificent pre-compact. Hurt and disillusioned because the auto industry preferred to develop their own compact, FROOD NOW OFFERS HIS CAR TO SOME LUCKY COLLEGE STUDENT! This is a brand-new, gas-driven, REAL CAR. It features four (4) wheels, genuine foot-power brakes, "fresh-air conditioning," and actual left-right steering mechanism! The economical 7.9 horsepower engine saves you hundreds of dollars in hay and oats! Goes 32 miles per hour, gets up to 65 miles per gallon. The Froodmobile can be licensed in every state except New Jersey. (New Jersey hates Frood.) WIN this beautiful car (with "FROODMOBILE" mounted in brass on the cowl!). Actual value over $1,000.

TO ENTER THE LUCKY STRIKE FROODMOBILE CONTEST, simply finish this sentence in 25 words or less:

"I need the Froodmobile because . . ."

Entries will be judged on the basis of humor, originality and style (preferably Froodian). If, in the opinion of our judges, your answer is best, the makers of Lucky Strike will deliver to you, on campus, the Froodmobile. A carton of Luckies will be given to the first 100 runners-up. Along with your entry send your name, return address, college or university, and class. Entries must be postmarked no later than April 15, 1961. All entries become the property of The American Tobacco Company. Send your entry (or entries) to LUCKY STRIKE, P. O. BOX 17A, NEW YORK 10, NEW YORK.

Prof. Asserts Math Situation Bad

WASHINGTON (UPI) — You are in good company if you feel stupid about mathematics, a Michigan State University-Oakland professor says.

Prof. Robert J. Wisner told a mathematics conference at Mt. Vernon Junior College here that "undergraduate mathematics has for almost everyone the properties of a stupeficient."

(For those of you who feel stupid about stupeficient, it means something that induces sleep or stupefaction, such as a narcotic.)

"One is impressed, I guess I should say depressed, by the generally outdated curriculum, the abundance of trivial courses which pay off with college credit, and the unimaginative teaching which our students must suffer," Wisner told the conference.

"The payoff is hardly surprising," he said. "Few find it interesting enough to take it seriously enough to become a mathematician."

Wisner said that no other field of knowledge fails as mathematics does in attracting its undergraduate majors into a graduate school.

Wisner said he represented the Committee on the Undergraduate Program in Mathematics of the Mathematical Association of America (CUPM), which is trying to do something about the situation.

But he emphasized that some of the views he was expressing were his personally, not those of CUPM. He also pointed out that he was not indicting all undergraduate mathematics curricula.

After touring the country, however, he said, "I can assure you that the college mathematics situation is almost unbelievably bad."

"Bad — very bad — but not despairing," he said, "for pitted against this note is the realization by colleges that something must be done."

He outlined programs for improving the qualifications of those teaching mathematics and also proposed that more of the subject be fed to students before they reach the college level. CUPM will hold four conferences for math and education professors, he said. These conferences will be held at Miami Beach, San Francisco, Chicago and New York.

At present, Wisner said, "mathematicians simply seem to fail to imbue undergraduate mathematics majors with enough desire or knowledge to take mathematics seriously."

Miss Coci to Give Last of Recitals

Claire Coci will give an organ recital for the final MSU Music Series, Sunday in the Music Recital Hall at 8:15 p.m., according to Luther A. Richman, dean of fine arts.

She was the first woman organist invited to play at West Point. She has also appeared with major symphony orchestras and has given recitals in many states.

Miss Coci is at present teacher of the Union Theological Seminar in New York and is head of the organ department at the Dalroze School of Music.

After studying at the University of Michigan and in Europe, she became a faculty member of the Oberlin Conservatory of Music in Ohio. Later she was associated with the Westminster Choir College of Princeton, N. J.

Single admission tickets for guests may be obtained by the subscribers to the series, Richman said.

Stereophonic Juke Box Installed in College Inn

Student Union Committee has installed a new Wurlitzer stereophonic juke box in the College Inn during spring vacation. All new records have been purchased for it, according to Dave Rianda, director.

There has also been a change in hours that College Inn will be open spring quarter. It will be open on Wednesday and Thursday nights from 9 to 10:30 and on Friday and Saturday nights from 8 to 12:30. It will closed on Sunday through Tuesday, he said.
